FIRST TOURNEY DEFEAT FOR THE LOCAL TEAM

Barling their way to the finals by defeating Antioch, 31-18, the Libertyville Wildcats Saturday copped the northwest tournament title by winning over Arlington Heights, 24-25, in a thrilling game which climaxed the fifth annual northwest conference tournament held at Libertyville last Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Thus for the first time in five years, Libertyville is in possession of the title, and Antioch, four times victor, loses for the first time the trophy of victory.

Crippled Team Makes Showing.
Handicapped by the absence of three regulars from the lineup—Kiss, Hughes and Steffenberg being minus victims—Coach O. O. Reed and his remaining warriors entered the tourney with determination to fight.

With Captain Turk and Keutman moved to forward positions to replace the regular forwards, the Antioch squad eliminated the Bensenville team from the tournament in the opening game, 24-21. Turk and Fuchs started as leading point-getters for the locals.

Loss to Libertyville.
The Libertyville gang, that had previously whipped Warren, 24-11, jumped on the locals Friday night for a 31-18 win, thus earning their way to the finals, and eliminating Antioch from the running.

Meanwhile Pauline had swamped Leyden, 27-13, in the preliminary Thursday, and continued their winning march by taking Wauconda into camp, 16-12, in the semi-finals Friday night. Wauconda went into the semi-finals.

DEATH CLAIMS JOHN E. TURNOCK

Was Widely Known Resident and Farmer of Salem

John E. Turnock, 79, a native of Salem township, Kenosha county, died at the Kenosha hospital January 27, following an illness of several weeks. He was born in Salem township, January 4, 1853, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James H. Turnock. He received his education in the district schools of Salem and has spent his entire life in that vicinity.

Was Retired Farmer.
At an early age he took up farming in Salem township and continued in that occupation until he retired from active duties sixteen years ago. Since he has retired he has been spending his summers in Salem and the winter months with his son, Charles E. Turnock, of 1106 Seventy-second street, Kenosha.

Mr. Turnock was one of the best known farmers in Kenosha county, a man of fine character, admired by all who knew him.

In 1877 he was united in marriage to Miss May D. Curtis, who preceded him in death February 3, 1915.

He was a member of the court of honor and the treasurer of the Liberty Cemetery Association. Mr. Turnock attended and was interested in the activities of the Salem Methodist church.

Funeral Today.
He is survived by two sons, Charles E. of Kenosha, and Reuben A. of Salem, Wis., and by three grandchildren. The funeral services were conducted this afternoon at the Salem Methodist church, followed by burial in the family plot in Liberty Cemetery at Liberty Corners.

Fight to Cut State Auto License Fee in Half

St. Mayer, president of the Automobile Club of Illinois congratulates minority leader Senator Thomas J. Courtney for introducing the bill to cut the state automobile license fee in half. Figures compiled by the club executive show that the 50% proposed reduction would effect an annual saving to the autoists of the state of approximately $9,000,000, and at the same time leave more than enough funds with which to carry out the road building program for many years to come. The proposed hard roads for downstate included.

INN AT TREVOR BURNS; $6,000 LOSS

Fire Department Saves Antioch House from Fire in Chimney

The Red Robin Inn at Trevor and the contents were completely demolished by fire Friday morning, the loss being estimated at about $6,000.

At the time of the fire, Robert Zmraly, the proprietor, and his family were in Chicago, and the fire was not discovered until it was too late to save the building. Although the Antioch volunteer fire department answered the summons speedily, the building was a mass of ruins before its arrival.

Fire Starts in Pipes.
The house of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rice at 267 Park avenue narrowly escaped destruction shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday morning when a blaze started in the pipes, and threatened the floors. Mr. Rice, upon discovering the fire, immediately called the fire department, and their quick action prevented the smudge from becoming an active fire.

Mrs. Rice declares that she had burned wood in the furnace on that day, and although she watched the fire, the chunks did not seem to be burning rapidly. A few minutes after 11 o'clock, she found that the soot in the pipes had become ignited, and as the basement is very low, she feared that the floors would take fire.

The walls of the house were discolored by the smoke, but the actual amount of damage was small.

Former Rosecrans Resident Passes Away in Canada

The body of Ralph Crawford, former dweller at Rosecrans, is being shipped home from Canada, and will arrive here tomorrow. Funeral arrangements will not be completed until the widow arrives.

FOR MERCHANTS ONLY

Every new day brings a new crop of salesmen who offer the small town merchant some new sales-promotion idea. There is no end to the variety of these schemes. Some of them possess some merit but practically all are simply screens behind which the slicker salesman can make some easy commissions.

ANTIOCH SCHOOL LAD RECEIVES FARM AWARD

Herman Edlmann, 15-year-old boy enrolled as a sophomore in the department of vocational agriculture of the Antioch township high school, was recently awarded the third prize in the Illinois Home Bureau poster contest. The posters entered from various parts of the state showed the convenience of having running water in every farm home. The contest was open only to members of the Future Farmers Association of Illinois. The farm boys at Antioch have such an organization—the chapter at the Antioch school being the first to organize in Illinois.

GORHAM BANK IS ROBBED

The First National Bank of Gorham, Ill., was robbed of $5,600 at 9 o'clock Friday morning by two men armed with shotguns. The robbers occupied in an automobile, which headed north. Within three days the bandits were captured, and were identified as Jack, son county hoodlums who have been engaged in several holdups there. The cashier of the Gorham bank is Ernest Schwartz, brother of Mrs. S. Boyer Nelson, of this city, and his sister, Mrs. Blanche Peters, assistant cashier, was also in the bank at the time of the robbery. Both are known here.

HOSPITAL POLICY TO BE ISSUED

Spirited campaigns for seats on the Lake county board of supervisors were being launched this week with the circulation and filing of petitions by aspirants who seek for the first time the four-year tenure of office provided by the new law passed two years ago and becoming effective this year.

Dissatisfaction regarding the present policy of management of the Lake county hospital, which is under control of the supervisor body, is to be made a campaign issue, according to rumors circulating along the north shore townships. Candidates who do not favor a change will find themselves with opposition, it is said.

Including supervisors and assistant supervisors, 27 seats are involved, but this year, on account of new population figures, six new assistants are to be elected in Waukegan and two new ones for Deerfield. Zion will lose one, with the town of Benton getting a supervisor. With the changes becoming effective with this year's election, the supervisor body will function with forty-five members, including the chairman.

Terms of Nineteen Expire.
Those now serving on the board who will have to stand for re-election are as follows:

- Antioch—William A. Roeling, Avon—Edward A. Brown, Benton—Dort C. Thompson, Hans M. Dronen.
- Deerfield—Wm. J. Obee, Chas. I. Harbaugh, Wm. E. Bleich, Fremont—H. C. W. Meyer, Libertyville—W. E. Miller, Newport—David Van Patten, Shields—W. G. Dickinson, Edward J. McKeown, Edward M. Maynard, Waukegan—Fred Decker, John F. McCann, Dan Short, M. P. Dilger, W. A. Berry, D. A. Hutton.

Two Candidates Here.
Thus far two candidates have announced themselves as candidates for the Antioch township supervisor post. They are: William A. Roeling, incumbent, who seeks re-election, and Joseph C. James, former justice of the peace and present police magistrate of Antioch.

H. S. Cagers Prepare for Barrington Game

Monday Is Date Set for the Postponed Game with Warren High

The first game to be played after the tournament will be with Barrington tomorrow night. This game will not be too one-sided, either way, and ought to provide doubt in the minds of the spectators as to the victor. The high school jazz band will displace the blues of the last week, and help rejoice in the return to school of Kling, Hughes, Steffenberg and Denman, who will probably all be given a chance to play for a few minutes. Another surprise will be featured tomorrow evening.

With the return of these players, prospects look brighter for a satisfactory outcome of the game with Warren township high school which will be played at Gurnee Monday night. This game was postponed three weeks ago because of mumps.

Antioch Man Receives Medal

The heroism of Lyle Eldredge, 291 Ida street, Antioch, in saving two skaters from drowning, was recognized here by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission which awarded a bronze medal to Eldredge, according to a news dispatch from Pittsburgh.

On the night of December 3, 1929, Eldredge, 27, an electrician, and James D. Duffy, 30, a carpenter, were skating on a lake, pulling Mrs. Duffy between them. Suddenly they skated into open water 20 feet deep and extending 100 feet to the bank.

Eldredge towed Mrs. Duffy to the edge of the ice which broke for 10 feet before they were able to gain support after being submerged twice. Then Eldredge turned and swam 15 feet to Duffy and raised him to the surface. Duffy pinned down the arms of his rescuer, and both men were submerged. With great exertion, Eldredge freed himself and pulled Duffy to the ice. Eldredge scrambled out and pulled the other two to safety. The three made their way three-quarters of a mile to a farmhouse with the temperature 14 below zero. Three times during the night, Eldredge lapsed into unconsciousness. All three recovered.

The event is well remembered here, as the trio were employed at Paschen's Farm and were well known to Antioch people. It was with surprise that Eldredge received notice a few days ago that he was to receive the medal.

PETTY WILL ADDRESS WOMEN VOTERS' CLUB

Group Plans All Day Meet at Waukegan February 19

The Lake County League of Women Voters will hold an all-day Citizens' School at the parish house, 410 Grand avenue, Waukegan, Thursday, February 19, from 9:30 a. m. until 4 p. m.

Mrs. W. W. Ramsey, of Chicago, will be the instructor on Current Legislation for the morning session, and Education for the afternoon session. Also, W. C. Petty, county superintendent of schools, of Antioch, will discuss "Inequalities of Educational Opportunity in Illinois and Lake County."

Illinois Chairman to Speak.
Mrs. Ramsey is now congressional chairman for the Illinois League of Women Voters, and formerly was vice president of the National League of Women Voters. The rare gift of presenting subjects relating to government in a vivid and human manner has made Mrs. Ramsey one of the most beloved speakers of the state.

In the last few years her work for the National League has carried her on trips throughout the country, so that, although Chicago is her home, Illinois has had to share her with all the other states.

Admission will be 75 cents for the all-day session, including lunch, or 25 cents for either the morning or afternoon session only. Reservations for all-day session must be made with Mrs. William Kuehl, 42 South Buttrick street, Waukegan, Majestic 2420, by 3 p. m. February 17.

The Lake County League of Women Voters cordially invites the women of Antioch to attend.

COMMUNITY CHEST COMMITTEE TAKES CHARGE OF FUNDS

Mrs. W. H. Osmond Now Is Chairman of Group for Relief Work

Relief work for the needy of Antioch and community is now in the hands of the Community Chest committee, headed by Mrs. H. W. Osmond as chairman, and consisting of members from each of the charitable organizations of the village. The committee will work with the township supervisor in taking care of all cases of necessity arising in this community, the chairman stated yesterday. Funds are now in the hands of the committee, and expenditures are being made in cases where help is needed.

For obvious reasons the committee appointed to individual cases will work in secret, more or less, but the books of the Chest committee will always be open to inspection by interested persons, it was stated.

Seek Co-Operation.

The entire membership of the permanent committee has asked that the public assist in locating and reporting cases where assistance is needed in order that the Community Chest may serve the purposes intended insofar as is possible. Reports may be made to any of the following members:

Legion—Rev. Rex C. Simms, Alonzo Runyard, Legion Auxiliary—Mrs. Clarence Shultz, Mrs. William White, Woman's Club—Mrs. Henry Grimm, Ladies' Aid—Mrs. Ben Burke, Guild—Mrs. W. H. Osmond, Altar and Rosary Society—Mrs. H. J. Vos.

Acknowledge Donations.
The committee this week acknowledges with thanks a donation of $5 from J. N. Crowley.

Undoubtedly, the untiring of the community's charities to work in a common and very worthy cause, is one of the best things ever done here, and the community feels grateful to the Legionnaires, especially to Commander S. M. Wallace, Dr. Jensen, John Horan, and Clarence Shultz, the committee that worked to create Antioch's first community chest fund.

First State Road Bids Received Yesterday

The first bids for road construction in 1931 were scheduled to be received by the highway department Wednesday, according to Director H. H. Cleveland and Frank T. Sheets, chief engineer. This letting is being financed entirely by federal aid money which includes allotments recently made to the state and the $3,400,000 given Illinois as its share of the federal government's emergency appropriation to stimulate road work.

HUNTER LEASES MAIN GARAGE

Elmer Hunter, three years foreman at the Main Garage, Sunday took charge of the repair and storage business on a one-year lease signed with the owner, A. Mapelhorpe. Under the terms of the lease it is understood that Hunter will have charge of the repair work and storage, while Mr. Mapelhorpe retains the sale of accessories, Nash sales, greasing and car washing, and the Standard service station which is located on the premises.

Frank Mongon remains in the employ of Mr. Mapelhorpe at the Main Service Station.

DR. OLCOTT WAS BORN IN 1860

Dr. George R. Olcott, a former resident, who died in Junction City, Ore., January 12, was born in New York May 9, 1860, and was in his seventy-first year at the time of his death, instead of 68, as reported in this newspaper two weeks ago.

Particulars surrounding his sudden death were received here by friends this week. Apparently in good health on the morning of his death he had planned to split some wood, having borrowed tools from a neighbor. Returning to the house, he rested on a couch, and it was there his wife found he had died.

Dr. Olcott will be remembered as a practicing dentist in Antioch for many years. The family home was at 233 Main street, now the Episcopal church parsonage. He left here about twelve years ago. He had discontinue the practice of dentistry and since living in Oregon had interested himself in poultry raising and fruit farming.

ADVERTISING AND PUBLICITY

There is an eternal question in the newspaper business as to where legitimate publicity which has news value and public interest, ceases and advertising begins. It is about as difficult to answer this question as to determine which came first, the egg or the hen. The hen and the egg are inseparable and so are advertising and publicity, says the Manufacturer and Industrial News Bureau.

There are many subjects affecting industry which must be discussed from the standpoint of basic principles involved and entirely separate and apart from advertising. A case in point is the position of the country publisher and the problem he faces in meeting governmental competition in the printing business. Similar situations exist in connection with comment on many of the problems affecting business, industry, agriculture, taxation and government itself.

Publicity on questions of public interest should discuss mass problems affecting industry and the community at large. It should be educational in character.

Advertising is usually for sales purposes and applies directly to an article or service seeking direct financial profits.

To illustrate a case where publicity on a basic industry necessarily had to precede advertising, a publisher directs attention to the automobile industry. Today, he declares, that industry furnishes one of the largest advertising accounts in the nation. Twenty-five years ago there was little or no automobile advertising but there was a great deal of interest in the development of the automobile. Endurance races, speed contests, transcontinental runs, etc., furnished very interesting reading matter. This was "free publicity" for the automobile industry but it was not "free advertising" for any particular make of car. It was this same "free publicity," however, which aroused public interest and created the demand for automobiles. Then "paid advertising" followed as a matter of course for the simple reason that if any manufacturer wished to sell his own particular car, he had to advertise it in order to take advantage of the public desire to own an automobile which had been created by "free publicity" or whatever you wish to call it.

The same thing has taken place in the other industries.

STRENGTHEN LOCAL GOVERNMENT

In his recent inaugural address, Governor Roosevelt of New York strongly advocated a strengthening of local government. He pointed out that if we "follow the easy road of centralization of authority," we may "discover too late that our liberties have disappeared."

Centralization of authority—which results inevitably in the spread of bureaucracy and the rise of government by commission—has already captured many of our liberties. The old idea of government, by which each state was a separate entity has been warped out of shape. Washington has shown an increasing tendency to dictate to all parts of the nation.

We pay for this in two ways—in less freedom and in higher taxes. Thirty years ago one family out of twenty-two lived at the expense of the government. Today the ratio is one out of eleven.

The present congress is being besieged to more than an ordinary degree with proposals that would create new departments, new expenses, new bureaucrats. Governor Roosevelt is timely when he says we may "discover too late that our liberties have disappeared."

RIGHT AND ALSO PRESIDENT

"Prosperity cannot be restored by raids upon the Treasury," declared President Hoover recently. His statement is hardly open to doubt, even though it is not so spectacular as those of the politicians who like to hand out the private citizen's hard-earned tax money on the theory that such a proceeding always gains many votes.

ASK ME

LEGAL AUTO KNOTS

Conducted by the legal department
AUTOMOBILE CLUB OF ILLINOIS

This column is at the disposal of our readers who may be confronted with knotty legal problems pertaining to the use and operation of their automobile. Write your questions to "Ask Me" Editor, care of this paper and they will be answered in a forthcoming issue. Enclose a stamped envelope for an immediate reply.

What is the difference between "collision and property damage" insurance? M.O.H.

ANS.: Collision coverage is to protect you for damages to your own car. Property damage coverage is to protect you against claims for damage caused by your car to other people's property.

How long may one use the "License applied for" sign? K.M.

ANS.: There is no provision in the law which permits the use of a "License applied for" plate. This should not be used.

I was stopped by an officer and admonished because my rear license plate was covered with grease. What does the law say? Frank Jones.

ANS.: Section 15 of the Motor Vehicle law provides that license plates must not be covered, altered, defaced, or mutilated, and provides a fine not to exceed $100 for such violation.

Which automobile has the right of way when one is going south and one west at the intersection of two streets? T.L.D.

ANS.: The one going south. The state law provides that the vehicle approaching a street intersection from the right has the right of way.

Is there a state law requiring signals in turning or stopping? Bill.

ANS.: Section 33 provides that no driver shall suddenly stop, slow down, or attempt to turn around without first signalling his intention with outstretched arm or otherwise to those following closely in the rear.

I was given a "ticket" the other day for driving with one headlight on. Was this a violation? M.V.

ANS.: Section 18 provides that between one hour after sunset to sunrise every motor vehicle should carry two lighted lamps in front.

FORD
SMOOTHNESS

The new Ford has more than twenty ball and roller bearings

EVIDENCE of the high quality built into the new Ford is the extensive use of ball and roller bearings. There are more than twenty in all—an unusually large number. Each bearing is adequate in size and carefully selected for the work it has to do.

At some points in the Ford chassis you will find ball bearings. At others, roller bearings are used regardless of their higher cost. The deciding factor is the performance of the car.

The extensive use of ball and roller bearings in the new Ford insures smoother operation, saves gasoline, increases speed and power, gives quicker pick-up, decreases noise, and gives greater reliability and longer life to vital moving parts.

Other outstanding features that make the new Ford a value far above the price are the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, silent, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, three-quarter floating rear axle, Rustless Steel, the extensive use of fine steel forgings, and unusual accuracy in manufacturing.

TREVOR FIRE RAZES
ZMRZLY'S RED ROBIN
INN THURSDAY MORN

Auction Sales Draw Large Crowds; Former Resident Is Buried

The Red Robin Inn burned to the ground Thursday morning. The cause of the fire is unknown. Robert Zmrzly, the proprietor, and his family were in Chicago. Neighbors, on seeing the fire, called the Antioch fire department, but before their prompt arrival the building and contents were a mass of ruins. The loss is estimated to be about $6,000.

Seventy-five cows were sold at the auction sale Tuesday and 125 horses at the sale Friday. Over a thousand people attended, including buyers from Michigan and Pennsylvania. Seven carloads of horses will be on sale Friday.

The remains of John Turnok, an old-time resident of Liberty Corners, were interred in the family plot in Liberty Cemetery Thursday afternoon.

A large crowd attended the card and bunco party at Social Center hall Saturday night. Prizes were awarded in 500 to Ralph Kinrale, Byron Patrick, Katherine Webber and Mrs. Pat Manning, and in bunco to Delores Morano, Mrs. Zmrzly and Kenneth Brown.

Antioch Future Farmers
Destroy 2,500 Pests

During a period of four weeks a campaign against sparrows, mice and rats netted the Future Farmer Chapter of the Antioch high school 2,500 pests destroyed in various ways. The sparrows were blinded by flashlights and picked off their perches by the youthful enthusiasts by the hundreds. According to C. L. Kuth, chapter advisor, pests are becoming less numerous as three or four campaigns have been waged in past years. The boys found it more difficult to find the pests this year.

Lutheran Y. P. S. Defeats
Elkhorn; Tie First in the League

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at Peace Lutheran church on Wednesday afternoon, when Miss Floella Sapp, daughter of Mrs. Annie Sapp, of Burlington, became the bride of George Bernhoett, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bernhoett, of Bassett. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Jodelo.

The bride was attired in white satin with a lace veil, and carried a shower bouquet. Miss Vida Sapp, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a lavender satin gown and carried a bouquet of pink roses and white sweet peas. Miss Martha Wutke, bridesmaid, wore a dress of pink satin and carried yellow roses and white sweet peas. Dorothy June Steiner was flower girl. Hans Besselman and Jim Ellis acted as ushers.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Martin Steiner. A wedding dinner was served at the Badger hotel at 5 o'clock.

The Lutheran Y. P. S. defeated Elkhorn Tuesday evening, 33-29, and succeeded in tying Elkhorn for first place in the Lutheran league. The Wilmot seconds also defeated Elkhorn seconds, 6-6. Tuesday evening both teams play Lake Geneva, at Lake Geneva. Friday evening the first string meets the high school reserves.

The Kenosha County Chorus gave a concert in the Wilmot gymnasium last Monday evening, which was enthusiastically received.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernhoett entertained the following guests in honor of Mr. and Mrs. George Bernhoett Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. John Bernhoett, Sr., of Bassett; and Mr. and Mrs. John Bernhoett, Jr., and family, of Twin Lakes.

MOTHER OF TWO DIES HERE SUNDAY

Funeral Services For Mrs.
Roy McConnell Held
Here Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Roy McConnell, 33, who passed away early Sunday at her late home in north Antioch, were held Tuesday afternoon, and the remains were taken to Peoria, Ill., her former home, for burial. Rev. Philip T. Bohl, of the Methodist church, officiated at the obsequies.

Born at Peoria November 24, 1897, she graduated from high school in the town of her birth, and later taught in the rural schools of Montgomery and Clinton counties.

Before her marriage to Roy McConnell, August 20, 1919, she was Miss Gladys Esther Morrison, daughter of Mrs. Robert Morrison, who survives her. Besides the husband and mother, she leaves two children, Dorothy, 10, and Roy, 8; also two sisters, a brother, three step-daughters and a step-son.

She was a member of the Methodist church, and before a lingering and fatal illness befell her, she was active in religious and social work.

Mr. McConnell and his family have been living in the Maek residence on North Main street. He is an employee of a Waukegan laundry.

TOWN TEAM TO ENTER TOURNAMENT HELD AT FOX LAKE

St. Peter's Win; Moose Also Evidence Considerable Improvement

If the town team can engage with the strong Waukegan Armenians, and emerge the losers by a score of 46-33, they aren't so far wrong. The game was played here Monday night at the high school gym. The local boys were nearly a match for their heavier opponents during the first three quarters, but the superior team-work and the up-to-date quality of the Waukegan boys' floor-work, enabled them to pull away during the last quarter. Their star shooter was Margonah, who sank ten baskets.

After a game which showed just how dangerous the Moose team is becoming, the town team was successful Tuesday night by one point, 30-29. Nelson was the most valuable man on the Moose team that night. If the Moose team continues progressing at the present rapidly, let others look to their laurels.

To Enter Tournament.

The town team will enter the tournament at Fox Lake which is to be held February 11, 12 and 13, and will play their first game Wednesday evening. Those in the tournament are the Fox Lake team, the Libertyville Fould's Macaroni team, Gurnee, Willmott, two Grayslake teams, Lake Villa and Antioch. To the winning teams will be awarded little gold basketballs, and to the individual who proves himself the most valuable man in the tournament will be given a trophy.

St. Peter's Win by Walk-Away.

Because of the evident superiority of the St. Peter's team, the game staged with members of the James-Sway Boosters of Geneva City last Thursday could not be called a particularly lively or interesting game. The score was 21-4.

A game of an entirely different aspect will be played tonight when St. Peter's encounters the experienced Libertyville American Legion boys at the local gymnasium.

Moose Take One, Lose One.

Plenty of excitement was floating over the gym floor at Allendale Friday night, when the Moose took the game from Lake Villa after a spirited game, 31-30. Nelson and Waldweller displayed their usual scoring skill.

That same scoring skill, however, couldn't quite convince the Wilmet Pirates last night that the Moose were good, so the Moose went under, 28-24.

A good clean game is assured for next Monday evening when the Thomet's Rangers of Waukegan come here to play the Moose. They hold undoubted first claim among the Y teams.

The Moose will take on Grayslake Wednesday night, and St. Peter's Thursday night.

Hickory Man Is 71 Sunday; Nine More Victims of Mumps

George Tillotson celebrated his seventy-first birthday on Sunday, February 1. His visitors were Mrs. E. W. King and Mariellen, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Scoville and Clare, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bishop and Eloise, of Kenosha.

The latest mumps victims are Lillian Wells, Rose Pedersen, Dorothy Hunter, Bert Edwards, Harold, Pearl and Norman Edwards, and Agnes and Paul Nielsen.

Chris Paulsen was a business caller in Racine on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Thompson spent Wednesday in Waukegan.

Mrs. David Bennett and children, of Millburn, called on Mrs. Chris Paulsen on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George Olsen, of Waukegan, were Sunday visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Max Irving's.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Hollenbeck motored to Edison Park on Thursday afternoon, returning home again late Friday night. Charlotte and Shirley Mae Hollenbeck of Edison Park spent Saturday and Sunday at the Corners.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pedersen motored to Chicago on Friday evening, returning home again Sunday forenoon.

Mrs. Andrew Pedersen, of Waukegan, spent Saturday and Sunday at A. J. Pedersen's.

Miss Edith Thompson returned home on Saturday evening, from Minneapolis, where she has been taking a 4-months course in technology.

Mrs. Chris Paulsen and daughter, Ruth, were Waukegan visitors on Saturday afternoon.

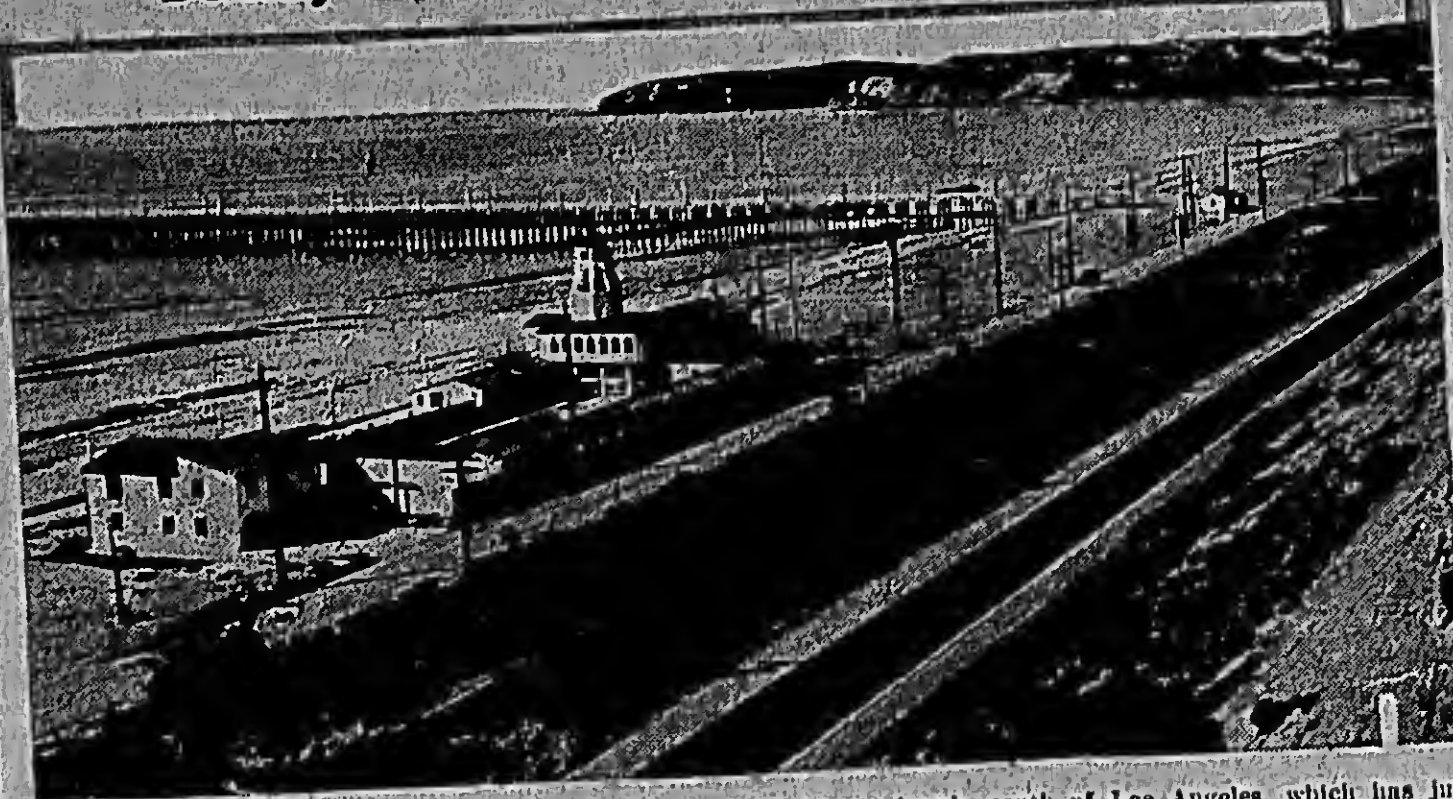

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Sorenson, of Waukegan, called at A. J. Pedersen's on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilton and son, Carl, called on relatives at Bean Hill on Sunday afternoon.

Kenneth Pullen, and Margaret and Thelma, called on Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pullen, of Wadsworth, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Ames, of Gurnee, called at E. A. Tillotson's on Thursday afternoon.

OFFICERS INQUIRE, "IS JAR AIRTIGHT? IS GARMENT NEAT?"

Officers of the Domestic Science Department of Lake county are urging all those who have not already tipped their jars of canned meat to detect air bubbles or scanned their made-over garments for snapped threads, to do so at once in preparation for the contest at Decatur on February 18.

Each contestant in the meat contest will be allowed to make three entries; and neatness, flavor, texture and pack will be considered in the judging.

A slip should be pasted on the bottom of each jar—giving name of the product and name and address of the exhibitor. Ship prepaid, c/o Farm Bureau Office, 404 S. Water street, Decatur, Ill., in order to reach there not later than February 17.

Made-over garments should also be in by that date. Suitability, attractiveness, originality, economy of time, and cost of "findings and bindings" will be the principle factors considered by the judge.

Four or five sentences should be typed or written and fastened to the garment, telling what it is made from, also the cost to re-make, such as threads, bindings, trimmings, etc. Name and address must accompany the garment and be clearly written.

For returning garments, enclose in the package a self-addressed envelope with sufficient stamps to cover return postage of article.

CHAPTER XIV—Ernestine is introduced to Lillian, who is a newspaper artist, and she is a girl, with her husband, Lillian, who is a newspaper artist, and she is a girl, with her husband, Lillian, who is a newspaper artist.

CHAPTER XV—Some Day

But the day was not over for Ernestine. She left Lillian at the bank. Lillian's pocket was stuffed with the money, and her bank balance was reduced to three figures. But that didn't matter. Not a bit. She was a million times richer than she had been the day before. The bankbook figures would tell again.

She wished she had her car, but, lacking it, she went across to Sheridan road, took a bus north, rode almost to Devon, left the bus and went to Lillian's.

Nobody answered the bell, but the door was unlocked, so Ernestine walked in. The house was silent, but she was instantly aware of the fact that some one was in it. She called, but no one answered. She went through into the kitchen. The maid's bedroom was off the kitchen and the door stood open. Ernestine went in there and saw that the room was in an unoccupied look. She opened the closet door. The hooks were empty.

The maid had left, or had been dismissed. She was still under the domination of her deep self, and as she had been governed in Lillian's office an hour or so earlier by forces she did not understand, so now she went quickly up the stairs, through the silent house, and into the big front bedroom where Lillian and Loring slept. The cover showed the impress of a body, the pillow had been drawn out from under the spread. She looked swiftly about and was not at all surprised to see Loring standing against the wall, behind her, one hand behind his back. His coat collar was turned up in disorder, he was unshaven, and across one cheek was a deep imprint where his sleeve, or his pillow, had creased his flesh.

Ernestine went to him and held out her hand.

"Give it to me," she said sternly, as she might have addressed Peter.

Loring stared at her, his face for a moment, his haggard eyes taking on a belated vitality. Then, silently, but with a shiver and a grimace, he drew from behind him a small nickel-plated revolver and put it in her hand. Ernestine crossed the room, opened the window and flung it far away into the water of the lake that breathed against the sandy beach.

She turned back to Loring, closed the window and dusted her hands.

"That's that," she said, with a gleam in her eyes. "What did you think that was going to do for you?"

He dragged himself away from the wall and sank down into a chair, longed for. With a kind of groan Loring hid his face in his hands and sat there like a broken man.

"I didn't know till this afternoon," he said. "But the grand jury—"

"That's all right, Loring," said Ernestine. "That's fixed."

"Fixed?" he said, hoarsely, and looked up at her, his expression a little wild. "You don't understand. They've got me seven ways."

"Not now," she said, thinking how strange it was that he could never know about Pastano, and about the twenty thousand dollars.

"Will fixed it," she said gently. "You know, he has friends who told before all this falls on the rest of you, and I couldn't even do this."

"Of course you couldn't. You're too perfectly healthy. You've been a fool perhaps—like the rest of us, but you aren't crazy, and only insane people are capable of self-destruction. Look, Loring, you can start again. Why, men sometimes have to start again when they're old. Lots of men fall once—or twice—and then succeed. You can start back and rebuild your father's old business. What if you have to let the house and the car go? It's a small price for a new start. Pastano will let you alone, as long as you stay off of his preserves. Lillian's got her money. Will and I are going to start new."

He looked up at her, eager to be comforted as a child is eager to be comforted, slowly and painfully, from the dark places of fright and madness.

"But Lillian!" he said, protesting, arguing, as mortal men always argue, on the wrong side. "Lillian's going to have a baby—that was what sickened me on all that old business—I'd been sick of it anyhow, and when I knew I might have a son—I had to get clear. I told her to go to New York, last week, but she wouldn't. She's stuck to me, Ernestine. I never believed she would. I thought she was a fair-weather wife. I've always thought it. But she's been wonderful. She let her maid go, and she's been doing her own housework. She sold her car and brought me the money. She wrote to her father to let her have her trust fund outright. Now she's going out looking for a flat. That's all right—but when I thought of prison—and Lillian's baby coming in all that trouble, it seemed that the best thing I could do would be to get out. If I were gone, she'd go home to her mother, and perhaps no one would know. I'm all caved in about Lillian, about the way she's taken it."

"Why, Loring," said Ernestine, and laughed shakily. "Lillian adores you—always did. She loves you. When you're just found out how much she cares, you contemplate leaving her. What a way to figure. If that's not like a man!"

They talked a little. Ernestine sat down on the dressing table, sang her hat upon Lillian's bed and talked to him. She told him of the new plans she and Will had made. Gradually he relaxed, came back to normal. He reached up and turned his coat collar down and put up a hand and smoothed his hair. After a little he got up and shook his big body.

"I believe I'll go and shave," he said. "I'm a fright. You won't tell Lillian or Will about this afternoon?"

"Why should I tell them? It would just scare them both. Have you had lunch?"

"No, I don't think so; no, I didn't."

"Neither did I. I'll go downstairs and fix some coffee and sandwiches while you're shaving."

From the kitchen she could hear him moving about; then she heard the front door open and the click of the latch. She went to the hall, and Lillian saw her. Lillian came back to the kitchen.

"You didn't answer the phone, so I came over—Lillian's upstairs. He said he hadn't eaten"—she made a gesture to the preparations on the table. Lillian nodded absently.

"Ernestine," she said softly, quickly, "I'm going to have a baby."

Ernestine kissed her. "I'm awfully glad."

"Did you know about all of Loring's trouble?"

"Will told me some—Loring's told me the rest—but the worst is over for him now."

"Poor kid," said Lillian. She leaned against the door a moment and smiled at her younger sister. It seemed to Ernestine that since she had last seen her, the hard surface had dissolved from Lillian.

"Isn't it funny? Now everything is different. I used to wonder how you could go ahead when things were so hard. But it's not so bad—in the thick of it, as it seems from the outside. Just to know the baby's coming makes all this mess of Loring's seem so unimportant—I don't care what arrangements we make. Oh, Ernestine, there have been times when I thought Loring loved you more than he did me, but these last few days he's been so sweet to me—so worried about me. He's humbled—it makes my heart ache. I can't tell you how I feel."

"I guess I know," Ernestine answered. "It's this business of marriage—but go on up to him, darling, and get him to eat something. All this will straighten itself out."

Lillian went up the stairs. Standing in the hall, looking after her, Ernestine realized that those sorrows were blessings—these were the things that bound a man and a woman together. This would break for ever Loring's old fixed idea about herself, and Lillian's belief that she had married for her own advantage. This would leave them close together, warm, heart to heart.

She turned the gas low under the coffee-pot, spread a napkin over the sandwiches she had fixed and slipped quietly out of the house. Perhaps Will was at home, and she would eat with him.

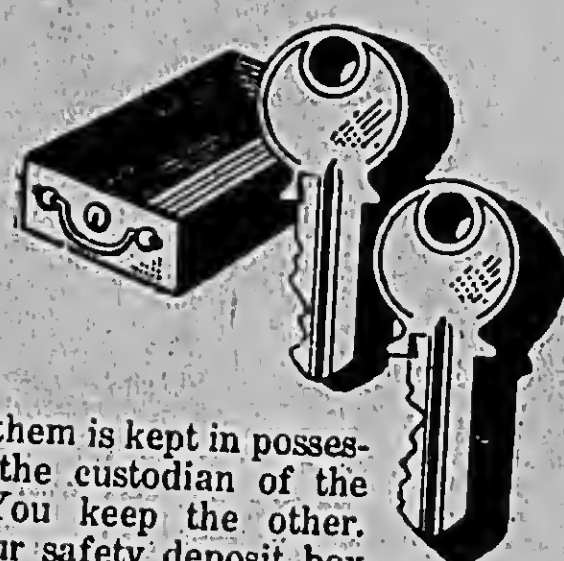

As she walked she began to plan all the new life. Her practical, efficient mind set itself with vigor upon the new problem. The removal to the lake—the need of a studio there for Will, the possibility of adjusting their life to changeable income. But Will was so active—he would doubtless have all the work he could do within a year or two. Some day he would be famous, and he would find the world willing to pay for beauty as well as wit.

She walked more quickly—eager to be home, the young blood singing in her heart.

Some day—

CHAPTER XV

Some Day

But the day was not over for Ernestine. She left Lillian at the bank. Lillian's pocket was stuffed with the money, and her bank balance was reduced to three figures. But that didn't matter. Not a bit. She was a million times richer than she had been the day before. The bankbook figures would tell again.

She wished she had her car, but, lacking it, she went across to Sheridan road, took a bus north, rode almost to Devon, left the bus and went to Lillian's.

Nobody answered the bell, but the door was unlocked, so Ernestine walked in. The house was silent, but she was instantly aware of the fact that some one was in it. She called, but no one answered. She went through into the kitchen. The maid's bedroom was off the kitchen and the door stood open. Ernestine went in there and saw that the room was in an unoccupied look. She opened the closet door. The hooks were empty.

Hints"AND, MY DEAR, THE HOUSE WAS A SIGHT,
A PERFECT SIGHT--"She Had Spent So Much to Have It All Redecorated, Too.

Then what was wrong? The house was ideally located on Lake Catharine. And the owner was fortunate enough to be in a position where she could have had a wonderful home—decorated and finished to the last detail—if she had known that with her over-stuffed furniture, a large floral design in the wall-paper could not be tolerated. Had she chosen a strong-fibered beige paper criss-crossed with green lines, with a 6-inch border at the top of the wall, cleverly cut out of a flowered design, in the same colors as I saw in one home recently, a very pleasing background would have been created.

Mrs. Richoy gives further suggestions and principles to be followed in the general plan of decorating a home. "Since color really does affect us, whether we are conscious of it or not, careful consideration should be given the selection of wall-paper, rugs, and drapes. In selecting wall-paper, if our walls are to be papered, and, if we rent, we have any say in the selection, we should shun 100 out of every 110 designed patterns shown us, and ask ourselves such questions as: Is it beautiful in itself? Will it tie back on the wall? Is it in accordance with the room? Will it be harmonious with the room and its furnishings? And how many pictures have I to hang upon it? If the pictures are few in number and the amount of furniture is limited, we may well choose a large outstanding design with a reasonable amount of color, providing the room is large, but if we have several treasured pictures to hang upon it, and plenty of furniture, then the design of the paper should be small and the colors subdued.

"The rug for a room in the home should be chosen with even more care than the wall decorations, for, no doubt, the walls will be re-decorated several times before any change of rug is made. In fact, almost as much care should be used as if one were selecting a husband or wife, for we live with a rug a good many years. We should keep in mind nature's carpet or rug when making our purchase and avoid buying rugs with designs of large flowers, animals, or even scenes of villages, for in nature we do not walk over animals, large flowers, and villages.

"Drapes, like wall coverings, can be changed more often than rugs, so there is a place where we can use bright and flashy colors, if we like them. But we should ever remember that the main function of a window is to admit light, and therefore we should not dress it so heavily that light and sunshine cannot enter. The colors of the drapes should be in keeping with the color scheme of the room."

BLUE IS VISIONED
AS SUCCESSOR OF
BLACK FOR SPRING

Ah ha! Right we were to champion black; for black it is, with no sign of a new favorite, unless it be powder blue which is coming brightly before our eyes more and more frequently. But just now comes reassurance from Paris that for afternoon affairs black is being worn more religiously than ever. Right here in Antioch at any semi-formal gathering, black holds undisputed sway. Hats, gloves, jackets and gowns are ebony-hued, relieved by colored costume jewelry, or white trimmings.

When Easter comes, what color then will be queen? It is rumored that this powder blue, before mentioned, will ascend the throne. This color is a boon to blondes favoring their "angel-like" daintiness, while to certain types of brunettes—deep blue-eyed ones—it lends mystery.

Mince Meat Saves Time for the Busy Housewife

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON
Director, Home Economics Dept.,
H. J. Heinz Company

WHILE everyone likes hot Mince Meat pie, most of us do not realize that Mince Meat also can be used to advantage in delicious cookies, tarts, cakes and many other "koodles."

Mince Meat cake usually takes hours to make, the following recipe for Mince Meat fruit cake, which is almost as easy to bake as even the plainest pastry, should prove a "find" for the busy woman. Just add a few simple ingredients to a Mince Meat—and there is a fruit cake even better than the ordinary kind.

"You will find, too, that this time-saving fruit cake improves with age just like any ordinary fruit cake. Bake one today and set it away to serve at the holiday season, or when there are unexpected guests for tea. Also, if you want something "different" for dessert tonight, it will take only a few minutes to make a panful of Mince

Meat drop, cookies or cup cakes while the oven is still hot.

Mince Meat Fruit Cake: To a can of Pure Mince Meat add: 1 cup molasses; 1 cup raisins; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 1/2 cup melted butter; 1 cup sugar; 2 eggs yolk; 2 cups flour; 1 teaspoon baking soda dissolved in 1 tablespoon boiling water; 2 slugs beaten egg whites.

Mix ingredients in order given, and bake in a well-greased and floured cake pan in a slow oven for about one hour.

Mince Meat Upside Down Cake: 1/2 cup butter; 1/2 cup sugar; 1 egg; 1 cup milk; 1/2 cup flour; 1/2 cup raisins; 1/2 cup molasses; 1/2 cup vanilla; 1/2 cup baking powder; 1 cup Pure Mince Meat; 1/2 cup granulated sugar; Cream butter, add sugar and beaten eggs. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt, add to first mixture alternately with the milk, and stir to a smooth batter. Butter a shallow baking pan, sprinkle with sugar and line with Mince Meat. Turn batter over Mince Meat and bake in a moderately hot oven 45 to 50 minutes. Serve hot with whipped cream, lemon or vanilla sauce.

Mince Meat Cup Cakes: 1/2 cup butter; 1/2 cup sugar; 1 egg; 1 cup milk; 1/2 cup flour; 1/2 cup raisins; 1/2 cup molasses; 1/2 cup vanilla; 1/2 cup baking powder; 1 cup Pure Mince Meat; Cream butter, add sugar and beaten eggs. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt, add to first mixture alternately with the milk, and stir to a smooth batter. Butter a shallow baking pan, sprinkle with sugar and line with Mince Meat. Turn batter over Mince Meat and bake in a moderately hot oven 45 to 50 minutes. Serve hot with whipped cream, lemon or vanilla sauce.

Mince Meat Drop Cookies: 1/2 cup butter; 1/2 cup sugar; 1 egg; 1 cup milk; 1/2 cup flour; 1/2 cup raisins; 1/2 cup molasses; 1/2 cup vanilla; 1/2 cup baking powder; 1 cup Pure Mince Meat; Cream butter, add sugar and beaten eggs. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt, add to first mixture alternately with the milk, and stir to a smooth batter. Butter a shallow baking pan, sprinkle with sugar and line with Mince Meat. Turn batter over Mince Meat and bake in a moderately hot oven 45 to 50 minutes. Serve hot with whipped cream, lemon or vanilla sauce.

Mince Meat Pie with Apple Meringue: 1 lb. jar Pure Mince Meat; 1/2 cup sugar; 1 egg; 1 cup milk; 1/2 cup flour; 1/2 cup raisins; 1/2 cup molasses; 1/2 cup vanilla; 1/2 cup baking powder; 1 cup Pure Mince Meat; Cream butter, add sugar and beaten eggs. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt, add to first mixture alternately with the milk, and stir to a smooth batter. Butter a shallow baking pan, sprinkle with sugar and line with Mince Meat. Turn batter over Mince Meat and bake in a moderately hot oven 45 to 50 minutes. Serve hot with whipped cream, lemon or vanilla sauce.

and serve on toast, garnished with egg slices and toast points.

Sautéed Vegetables: One pint chopped cooked potato. One pint mixed cooked vegetables. Three-fourths cup white sauce. One fourth cup cooking oil. Tomato or chopped egg sauce.

The mixed vegetables may be any kind, as cooked carrots, turnips, cabbage, beets, peas, stewed corn, onions, etc. Combine the ingredients. Heat the cooking oil in a medium-sized frying pan, pack in the hash an inch deep and fry until browned.

Spiced Carrots: Carrots. One cup cold water. Three-fourths cup sugar. Juice of one lemon.

Two-inch piece of ginger root or one-half teaspoon ground ginger. Cut carrots in thin crosswise slices. Put one and one-fourth cups with water and cook until tender. Add remaining ingredients with more water, if needed.

A mistake sometimes made is in serving highly flavored vegetables, such as onions, with delicately flavored meat, as chicken. Steak and ham also need to be served with distinctly flavored and colorful vegetable, such as carrots.

In addition to these menus, such beverages as milk, egg-nog, lemonade, coffee, tea or cocoa may be served, depending upon the nature of the illness. There is nothing in these simple menus, which is difficult to prepare, or which takes heavy toll of the food budget.

When Mr. Frog opened his eyes at last, and beheld Topsy preparing to leave the nest, he said sharply, "Come back here. Where are you going?"

"The night will soon be over, and tomorrow will be here. Then the Pillow Queen will meet the Cushions. I must hurry, and start some trouble," Topsy answered.

TOPPY'S TRAVELS

Synopsis: Topsy leaves home to follow his canary. After many adventures, he escapes from the hands of his enemies, the Pillows. Topsy overhears the enemy say that another enemy is threatening the Pillow Queen, and is happy, thinking that he may be able to help his own Cloud-Queen, even though his friend, Mr. Frog, is lame. Continue.

Topsy wondered what his friends at home would say about Mr. Frog. He really was a funny Mr. Frog, even if he did always speak so grossly and importantly.

He said nothing further to Mr. Frog or Toy, but sat pondering deeply. He looked at his sword, and rubbed some grass over the blade to sharpen it.

When Mr. Frog opened his eyes at last, and beheld Topsy preparing to leave the nest, he said sharply, "Come back here. Where are you going?"

"The night will soon be over, and tomorrow will be here. Then the Pillow Queen will meet the Cushions. I must hurry, and start some trouble," Topsy answered.

Libertyville Wins Tournament Cup

 finals by virtue of victory over Elia in the opener, piling up the largest score of the tournament of their rivals, 50-19.

Arlington approached the finals by beating Barrington, 27-14, in the opener, and also crushed Palatine, 14-11, in the semi-final Friday.

Then the big game, Arlington vs. Libertyville, for tournament championship and the trophy of victory. The game was one of the most thrilling flushes ever witnessed in the conference. At the half the score was 23-11. The teams were evenly matched and every moment was filled with thrills and spills, spectators were wild as it was anybody's game until the finish which included an overtime period, Libertyville gaining a 1-point lead and the victory.

Palatine Wins Third.
 In the play-off game Saturday evening, to decide the third and fourth place winners, Palatine high defeated Arlington in an exceedingly close tussle, 30-23. Palatine trailed at the end of the first quarter, 6-3, but went into a 1-point lead at the half-time, 16-15. The end of the third period found the two teams deadlocked, 21-21.

Palatine, with Meyer as center, controlled the tip-off, although both Meyer and Brogan, the Antioch pivot-man, excelled on offense. The loss of Fuchs, Antioch forward, on foul in the last quarter, seemed to create a loss among the Antioch players, and Palatine was able to come from a score to a 7-point lead, holding Antioch to two points, while making nine points in her own behalf.

TALENT TO BE SEEN IN DRAMA

Large Cast Will Have Part in "Treasure Island" and "Knave of Hearts"

Announcement is made to the citizens of Antioch that should they encounter characters resembling Long John Silver, Ben Gunn, Billie Bones, etc., on the streets of our beautiful city and should they encounter others resembling the Knave of Hearts and his associates in the old nursery rhyme, under no circumstances are they to become alarmed, because they may encounter are the pupils of the seventh and eighth grade making ready for their big dual production of "Treasure Island" and the "Knave of Hearts."

At a recent meeting of the pupils it was decided to present these two plays under the sponsorship of the Parent-Teachers' Association at the high school auditorium some time early in March. It is understood a definite date will be announced later. A cast of characters is now being selected and rehearsals will be under way shortly. Special costumes, scenery, and lighting effects are being prepared and an adequate production is assured.

Proceeds of the play will be used to help pay for the school piano recently purchased.

High School Honor Roll Is Announced

The following honor roll for the first semester of high school work is announced recently:

THIRD ANNUAL MUSIC FESTIVAL IS ANNOUNCED

Three orchestras, two glee clubs, a string quartet, and solo numbers will be featured on the program of the third annual music festival to be held at the Antioch township high school on the night of February 23, Edmund V. Jeffers, director of music, announced today.

Former events of this kind have been proven popular and have been the means of creating an appreciation of better music, especially among the students of the school. Public interest also has been centered on the annual event since its inception three years ago.

Popular, Classic, Semi-Classic.
 The program this year, according to Mr. Jeffers, will be in two parts, the first part being given over to the more popular selections of the day, and the second part will be devoted exclusively to the rendition of classic and semi-classic selections.

The senior orchestra, the junior orchestra, and the jazz band all have a prominent part on the program. Featured in the vocal numbers will be the boys' senior glee club and the girls' senior glee club, and the two organizations will combine in some of the numbers. The string quartet, composed of John Tellnasha, first violin, Richard Martin, second violin, Hans von Holwede, cello, and Mr. Jeffers, viola, will appear on the program in several numbers, and Mr. Tellnasha will be heard in solo.

Much interest is being manifested by the entire school group in preparing the musical treat.

Mrs. W. C. Thiesman is recovering from an attack of influenza, with which she has been ill since last week.

Conveyors Carry Ford Car Parts

Trains unload in the plant.

Bodies starting through the shop.

Conveyors carry wheels with mounted tires over a line on which cars pass to completion.

The highly important part played by conveyor systems in all Ford Motor Company manufacturing and assembly plants is graphically shown in the above three pictures taken in the recently opened Edgewater, N. J., plant. One of the pictures shows how parts may be unloaded from freight cars within the plant only a few feet from the various assembly lines. Another picture shows automobile bodies starting their trip on a conveyor while the third view is of the conveyor system used to bring wheels to the chassis which are also moving on a conveyor. As indicated in the picture, a constant flow of wheels around and over the chassis already been mounted as chassis enters the section, workers, in groups of four, each take a wheel from the hooks and fasten it to the chassis.

Unless you act promptly you'll have these vagrants on your hands until next spring! Leave Smoky Jim and Sambo Soot around and they'll soon have walls, curtains, draperies and rugs ready for the cleaners and decorators. Joe Heavyash and Pa Clinker will keep you busy all winter long. And old Pa Bentback will be right there to weigh down the shovel. Order Koppers Coke and be rid of these pests. It's lighter on the shovel, smokeless and sootless!

IN THE WRONG ALL DAY

THE VOICE OF THE COUNTRY

This is a yarn about a haunted ship—that is, all aboard thought she was haunted. But here's the yarn:

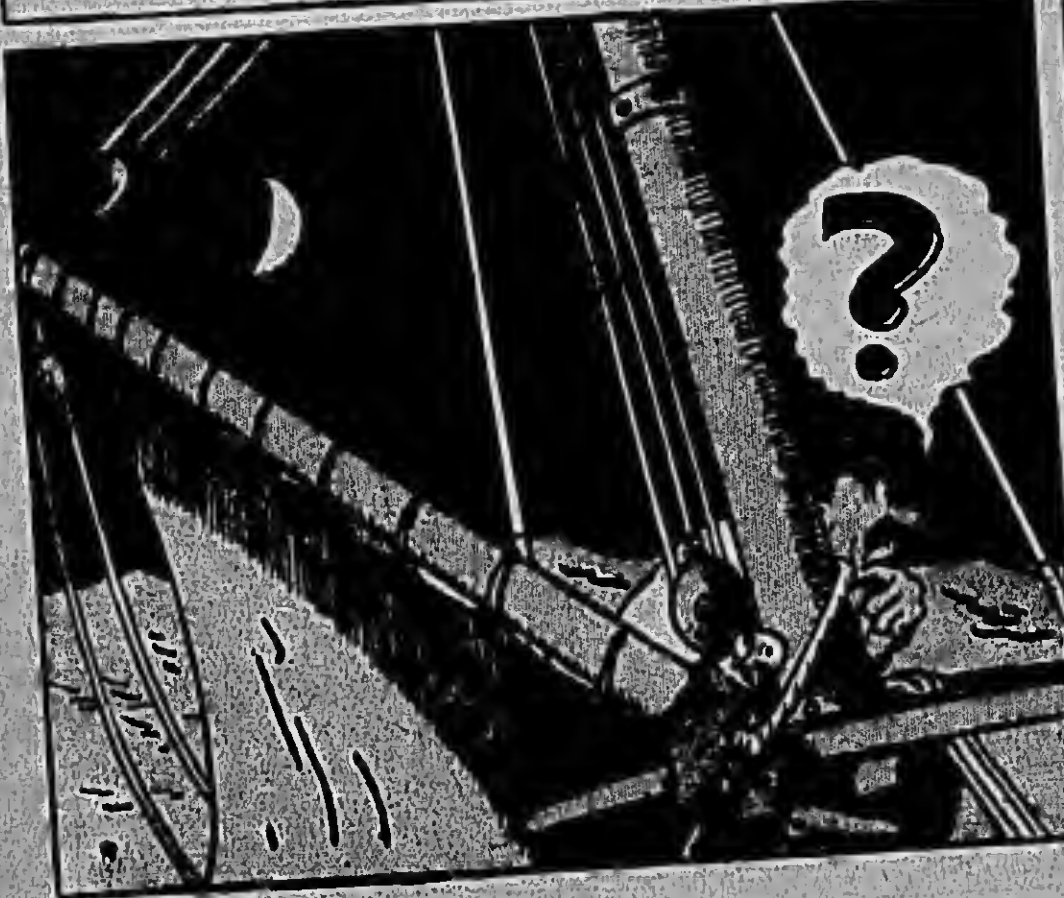

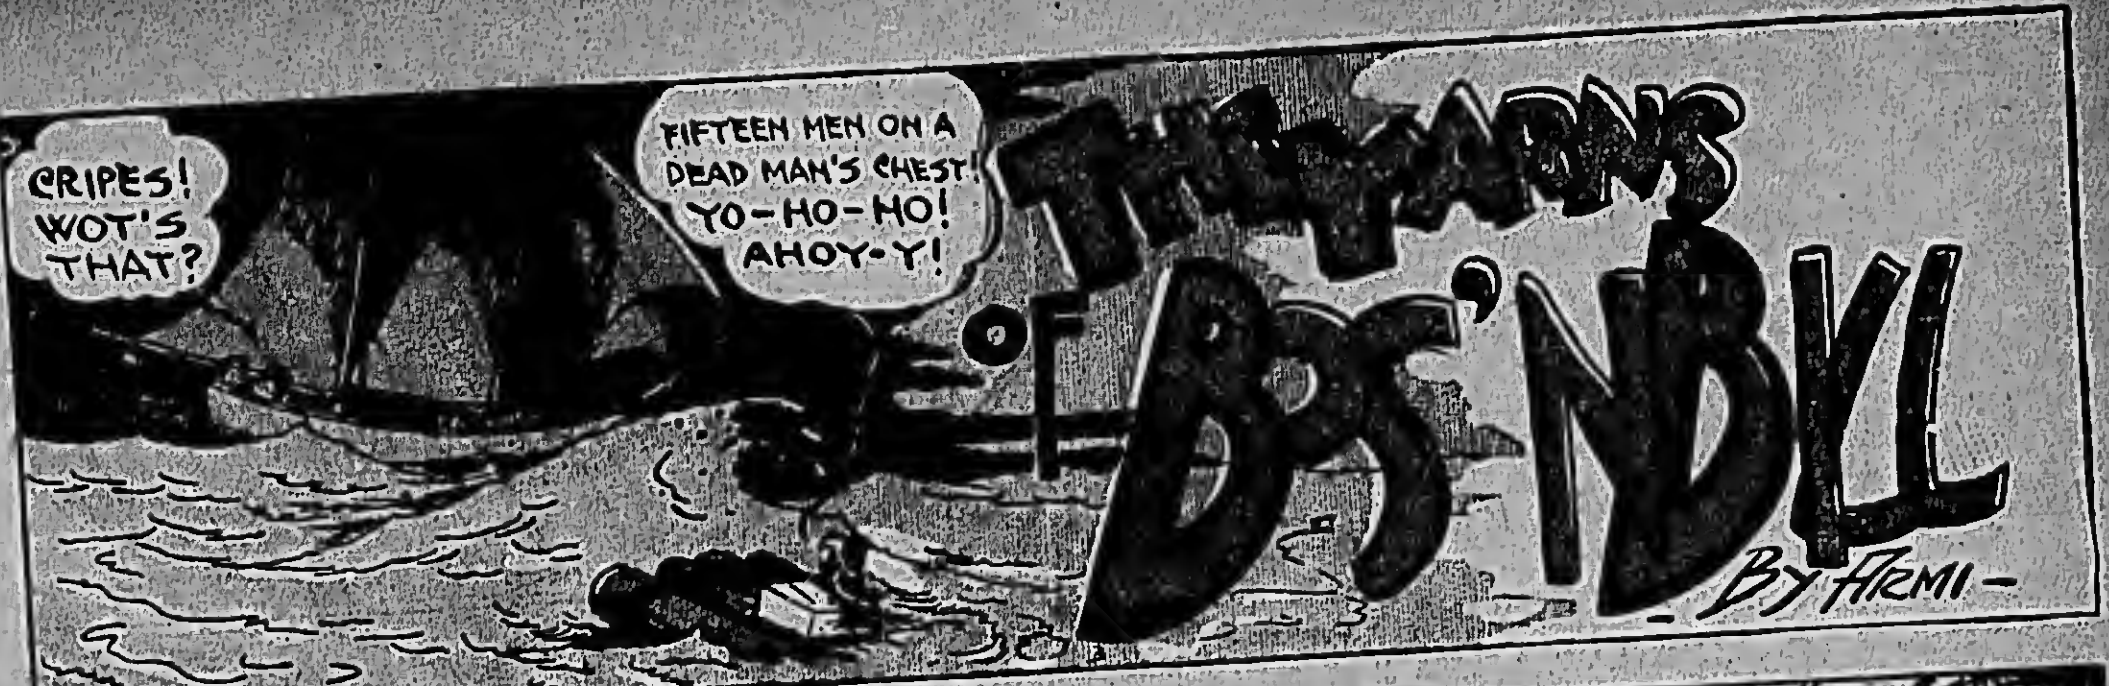

Kangy and I were still cruisin' with Tops'l Barney on his schooner, th' Lanui. It was a tropic night in th' Bay of Bengal. Overhead th' stars were shinin' like lanterns in th' sky. Up in th' lee of th' fo'c'stle, one of th' crew was spinnin' a yarn. He was goin' good when from high up aloft, somewhere near th' fore-crosstrees, there came a cacklin' laugh. At first th' hands thought it was one of th' crew makin' fun of th' yarn-spinner, but a look around showed everybody forward accounted for.

Then from aloft th' same voice bawled out: "Git, you lubbers, I'm comin' aboard!"

You should have seen th' men dive into th' fo'c'stle. One of 'em, though, th' one that had been spinnin' th' yarn, started aft on th' run, his eyes fairly poppin'.

Tops'l Barney and I had heard th' rumpus and were atandin' at th' break of th' quarter-deck, when th' yarn-spinner came gallopin' up, yellin' that th' bloomin' ship was haunted. Barney and I started forward, and had gotten as far as th' foot of th' foremast when th' ghost-voice up aloft yelled: "Overboard with that fat lubber!"

Barney, bein' th' only fat man aboard, was mad enough to bite nails. Up th' fire-riggin' he went, with fire in his eye. Then down he came with a parrot on his arm, chatterin' away like an old maid over a cup of tea. We figured later that th' parrot came aboard while we were loading cargo at Sumatra. Anyway, that was th' last of th' ghost on th' Lanui.
